GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

An Outrage Avenged

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct 11—A dispatch to the Indianapolis News says that on Monday night seven negroes outraged four white women near Mount Vernon Posey county. Last night Deputy Sheriff Oscar Thomas while attempting to arrest some of them was killed by Daniel Williamson (colored). This morning a mob of nearly three thousand gathered and shot Williamson and hanged two others and are preparing to hang the rest. Great excitement prevails.

Mr Colton's Family

OMAHA, Neb., Oct 11—Mrs D D Colton accompanied by her daughter passed through the city this morning on a special train for San Francisco, traveling at the rate of 30 miles per hour. Mrs. Colton was ill and had not been informed of her husband's death although aware of his illness. An autopsy made on the body of the late General Colton by Drs. Keeney and Lane proves that blood clots did not first strike the heart as reported, but the brain, which probably occurred at six o'clock Wednesday and at the time the deceased became unconscious. Embalming of the body has proven more effective than anticipated which it is thought will preserve the remains until the arrival of Mrs Colton and her daughter, in which case the funeral will not take place until Tuesday next. Filing of the will be deferred until after the funeral, probably for two or three weeks, as considerable time is required to make out an inventory of the estate.

The Old Colony Railway Accident

BOSTON, Oct. 11—Attorney General Train acting upon evidence taken by the board of railroad commissioners, in investigating the cause of the accident on the old colony road, ordered the arrest of Chas E Hastwell conductor of the freight train, who will be held for examination on the charge of manslaughter.

Girls Missing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Since the discovery on September 5th of a body near Silver lake, Staten Island, the names of five missing girls have been discovered through the efforts of [illegible] to solve the mystery.

Acklin's Defense.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 12—The following card comes from the Republican committee appointed to examine the charges against Acklin:

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10—We have carefully examined the documents and affidavits submitted to us by Acklin in the alleged seduction case and came to the conclusion that he is innocent of the charge and we are also convinced that the party who stirred up this matter did it for blackmailing purposes. Acklin publishes a card to his constituents in which he says: When I returned to the south, some weeks ago I learned for the first time of the revival of this vile slander which was exploded long ago. Being advised that it would be well to submit the charges, as a social matter to two committees, one composed of prominent Republicans, the other of prominent Democrats, and to avoid criticisms from my political enemies this was done. The report of the Republican committee is before you. The Democratic committee construed their power as extending to a judicial decision and gave their opinion on that [illegible].

Against Time.

[illegible], Oct. 12—Hopeful trotted this afternoon to a wagon for special purse of [illegible] to beat the fastest time on record [illegible]; wind blowing.

Infamous Vernon Outrage.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 12—On Monday night seven negroes entered a house of ill fame near Mount Vernon, eighteen miles distant, and by threats and violence succeeded in outraging four white women. Four of the negroes were arrested night before last. Deputies Thomas and Hayes went to the house of Dan Harrison, father of one of the remaining ones, to make the arrest. Old Harrison resisted entrance to his house and shot Deputy Thomas killing him. Deputy Hayes shot the old man in the arm. The news spread rapidly and a mob of several hundred men surrounded the jail, where old man Harrison was put to keep company with the others incarcerated. The crowd at the jail increased in proportion to [illegible]. The telegraph operator was driven from his office at 9:30 P M. About [illegible] men in long black masks proceeded to the jail at one o'clock and took the four prisoners and hung them in the jail yard. Old Harrison was cut to pieces and thrown into a privy vault. After perpetrating the horrible deed the mob dispersed.

A BOOTLESS CHASE.

Thornburgh's Run after the Cheyennes—Distress of the Troops—A Complete Failure.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—A Times special from Running Water, Nebraska, forty miles north of Camp Sheridan, says that Thornburgh's command reached there on the 10th and the expedition will probably disband having resulted in utter failure. The command has been through a country which is a geographical blank. The wagon tracks were reached at the Platte river on Sunday. The men took two days' rations for day and started northward at 4 in the morning towards White Tail, where scouts reported the savages encamped. A dense fog prevailed, and before the trail was struck twenty miles had been traveled in objectless detours and the savages had escaped. The trail was fresh, and the command pushed on with the scouts who showed their ignorance of the country by leading the command through an inaccessible country and losing the trail. The trail was finally discovered by Thornburgh's staff, and the cavalry pressed on at the highest possible speed. On Saturday night the savages were so closely pressed that twenty ponies were abandoned. On Sunday morning the troops were in the saddle by day and following the trail which led to the south. Seventy-five miles had been traveled without a drop of water. Sunday night the command reached a small lake near the North Platte river. The men were unable to articulate, from the effects of thirst. The wagon train left in the rear was attacked by fifteen Indians, and the escort repelled the assault till relieved by the arrival of Mauck. All scouts who had been engaged deserted the expedition and Thornburgh could only push on in a northern direction, in hopes of striking the trail. Camp was made at night at the head of Blue Water, 35 miles north of the Platte. No rations for the men and forage for the animals [illegible] on Sunday, and the men were compelled to breakfast on a fresh beef. Monday the column marched 40 miles over the great sand hills of Nebraska where the sand was knee deep to the horses, and was whirled by the wind in blinding clouds. The column marched 45 miles without water and no food save hard tack and raw beef. Tuesday the column struck Carleton's trail and, abandoning all hopes of intercepting the Indians, we marched 40 miles and camped en route a dry camp made for the night. Horses and men dropping from exhaustion [illegible] into our camp. We were near an alkali lake at all hours during the night. Wednesday morning the probability that the whole command would perish in the [illegible] was generally discussed. New couriers were sent forward and every effort was made by the commanding officer to relieve the increasing distress of troops. He succeeded at [illegible] o'clock in communicating with Carleton and an hour later camped on the headwaters of Snake river where Carleton's relief met us. The expedition is a complete failure so far as the capture of the renegade Indians is concerned.

Enough 'Grub' for Both Commands.

A dispatch received this morning from Major Carlton who is with Major Thornburg in pursuit of fugitive Cheyenne is as follows:

CAMP ON NIOBRARA RIVER Oct 10.

Col Thornburg struck my trail in the sand hills out of rations. Sent him rations yesterday and he joined me to-day. By dividing with him will both have rations sufficient to reach Camp Sheridan.

Indian Outrage Near Deadwood

DEADWOOD Oct 12—About 15 Indians appeared in Red Water valley 30 miles from here this morning and burned several stacks of hay. Ranchers have organized a party and will start in pursuit of the Indians this evening.

WASHINGTON CITY

Government Finances

WASHINGTON Oct 11—Most of the session of the cabinet to day was occupied in discussing estimates for support of government during the ensuing fiscal year. The head of each department having been engaged for several days in ascertaining to what extent the estimates for his department might be reduced. It is generally understood that the falling off in revenue renders imperative corresponding reduction in expenses and the question is as to what are the most urgent needs of the service.

LETTER FROM THE CAPITAL

EVERYTHING SWAMPED

SALEM Oct 13, 1878

It is Sunday and the church bells have sounded their worshipers to the sanctuary but the multitude of those who visit Salem to day are not worshipers to any great extent. The legislature and the state fair have summoned people hither from the four quarters of the northwest and every man has his own or some one else's ax to grind. The state fair is nearly as extinct as the world was after the deluge and the whole country is threatened with a danger, as great as it is common. Hen Owen promises to file on the whole Willamette valley as swamp lands if the wind doesn't change and the rains cease within a reasonable time.

SUNDAY WORK

To day the work of the session is being rapidly crystalized into shape which means that having a day of rest, matters are being put in order and mutually understood. Of course there will be compromises, but some things cannot be compromised or conciliated. I am told the narrow gauge railroad combination will prove a failure and that the omnibus bill cannot pass. The bill is pernicious because it gives away something we have not got. It may be well enough to aid all these railroads, but to make that aid effective we should first secure the lands to the state by patent from the general government and when we know somewhere near what they will realize we can dispose of them as we shall deem best. So far warrants have been issued on just such granting of aid, and those warrants are dickered and traded off at 25 to 50 per cent of their face which is neither to the credit of the state nor especially to the advantage of the enterprises proposed to be aided.

H C Owen informs me that the state has at least two million acres of swamp lands and that when it can make a title to them they will be worth a pretty sum of money. D P Thompson says there are enough swamp lands to pay off claims against them in the past, in shape of wagon road warrants, to pay off the state debt in full and to construct all our public buildings. Some men are impressed with this idea, while others maintain that an improvement fund can be constructed out of the proceeds of swamp lands and be of great use in prosecuting public enterprises. There is a general opinion that the state should secure an indisputable title to these lands as soon as possible.

THE STATE PRESS ASSOCIATION

This association includes the leading papers of the state and will include all of the respectable ones no doubt, so soon as they can be present. Our organization is very pleasantly consummated and promises to cement the journalism of the state in the most agreeable social relations and to elevate it to a high moral standard. That desire is pre-eminent. All seem to wish to make the profession honored and respected, and consequently more useful and influential in which, no doubt, we have the good will of all right minded citizens. The resolution I forwarded you has been unanimously adopted and a memorial and bill in consonance therewith is to be presented in the senate when the proper order of business is reached. Quite a dramatic scene took place in the parlors of the Chemeketa, where the convention was held, when the resolution was under discussion. A young man who has the misfortune to represent a notorious blackmailing publication, rose and made a very able and eloquent plea against it assuming that it was aimed at his journal, and intimating that it was the result of a conspiracy against the welfare and progress of that institution. His remarks took the association by suprise for no allusion, public or private, to my knowledge, had been made as to the application of the resolution to any journal whatever. It was merely a noble step towards elevating journalism, and securing the Oregon press from the general condemnation that inevitably follows improper license and personalities. "Let the galled jade wince," however and when we recollect the course of that newspaper for years past it is not strange that it should repel any effort to make journalism respectable as a personal insult. Among the most eloquent advocates of the resolution were Noltner, of the Standard, and Gen Mart V Brown, of the Democrat. If the expressions of the convention were published, the readers of Oregon newspapers would feel proud of their press representatives. I forgot to say that when the resolution passed the aforesaid young man dissolved the connection of his journal with the association, which leaves the vote for the resolution unanimous.

Affairs of the French Savings Bank

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 12—The receiver of the French savings bank, E J Low, advertises that he has opened an office on Montgomery street. The committee appointed at a meeting of depositors on Tuesday evening met yesterday and resolved to address a circular to depositors in which they state that they are unable to do anything as the question of receiver has not yet been settled by the court and advise depositors not to hold the meeting announced for next Tuesday night and further advise depositors not to surrender their pass books to the receiver until further advised. They promise a full report of affairs as soon as present difficulties are settled.

A Famous English Robber Captured in California

STOCKTON Oct 11—Yesterday Chief Detective Henderson of London and Chas Pinkerton succeeded in making the arrest at Niles, Alameda county of Burgess the burglar who robbed the bank of England and killed McWilliams assistant cashier. Burgess murdered the banker by striking him on the wrist with a ring in which was a lance that carried deadly poison into the veins producing instant death. He then took a pile of money consisting of £250,000. The murder and robbery occurred on August 13 18[illegible]. The burglar after the robbery was tracked by detectives through France and Switzerland to Victoria and London then to New York thence to San Francisco. He then went to China thence to Australia and back to San Francisco July 2d. Lord Beaconsfield sent word to Henderson that Burgess had been seen in Australia. Henderson followed him to Australia but was too late as Burgess was on his way to San Francisco. May 18 1878 Burgess registered at the Baldwin Hotel as S O'Neil and wife London then went to Sacramento and registered at a hotel as Samuel Andrews of London. The detective here lost all track of him for several days but by chance learned that a woman of the town had in her possession a curious Russian coin that inspired the detectives with new hope and they found the coin and a description of the man who gave it to her but he had left for Stockton where he remained till August 30th. They followed him to Niles where he was found with a pair of blankets strapped to his back and ready to start away. When confronted by the detective he said "Well old man you've got me at last" and gave himself up. He had but $150 on his person but acknowledged his guilt and said that the greater part of the money was buried on a spot thirty miles out of London. He was taken to Sacramento in irons thence he will go direct to London. Burgess is a noted burglar, having been in prison four years on another charge. A reward of $500,000 was offered for his capture. The detective traveled 21,000 miles before he caught his man.

Later.

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 12—It seems doubtful whether the reported arrest of Burgess the Bank of England robber at Niles is or is not a hoax. Police authorities here profess utter ignorance of the affair. W L Booker British consul says that Henderson a London detective, has been in the city and this is confirmed by other parties who also say that Charles Pinkerton has been in the city during the week notwithstanding a dispatch from Chicago that none of Pinkerton's force has been in California recently.

The $35,000,000 Suit

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 12—In the 12th district court to day John H Burke filed a complaint as a stockholder in the Con Va Mining Co, against J W Mackey, James C Flood, James G Fair and the Pacific Wood, Lumber and Flume Co to recover $4,000,000 property of the Con Va Co alleged to have been illegally converted to their own use by defendants. This is one of a number of suits to be commenced instead of the recent $35,000,000 suit and are intended to cover a defect in the suit found by the court in sustaining the demurrer of defendants in the former action that there was a misjoinder of parties and causes.

Panic in a Theater

LIVERPOOL, Oct 11—During a performance to night at Coliseum Theater which is now used as Music Hall a fight occurred under the gallery. The audience hearing, but being unable to see the disturbance became alarmed. A cry of fire was raised when a terrible panic ensued people rushing for the doors and sliding down pillars of the gallery on the heads of occupants of the pit. A post impeded exit. Thirty five men and lads and two women were suffocated. Many persons were severely injured.

Failure of a Manchester Firm

LIVERPOOL Oct 11—The firm of Heugh Balfour & Co of Manchester has failed. It was one of the oldest eastern shipping houses in Manchester. Liabilities two hundred thousand pounds. Losses fall chiefly on Manchester cloth and yarn agents.

A Fatal Panic

LIVERPOOL, Oct 12—It is stated that there were between four and five thousand persons in the Coliseum theatre last night at the time of the fatal panic. It appears that one of the performers was singing a comic song when a free fight commenced in the pit. A cry of fire was raised and there was a general stampede for the box office entrance though there are said to have been five other doors open for the egress of the audience. The police inside and outside of the theater vainly endeavored to control the frantic crowd. The structure of the theater at the point where the crash occurred is intricate. Exits converge into a narrow well and it was in this well where suffocations took place and the dead were piled six or seven deep. An upright partition in the centre of the doorway stopped the passage until one of the men attached to the theater cut it away enabling some of the imprisoned people to escape. A scene of the greatest excitement prevailed outside the theater. A fire engine and fire escapes arrived and the firemen joining the police entered the building to reassure the people. The manager of the theater upon the first alarm rushed into the pit from the entrance and shouted to the people to remain quiet but all his efforts were ineffectual until the theater had been nearly cleared, when the dead and injured were carried to the Royal Infirmary. Two of the dead were women three boys, and thirty two strong able-bodied men, of the laboring class.

THE STATE FAIR.

Eighteenth Annual Exhibition of the Oregon State Agricultural Society

[illegible]

STATE FAIR GROUNDS Oct 13

It has been said that the people were never so ready for the State Fair as at the present time. Certainly the weather clerk was never so unready and unless a truce can be arranged the people will certainly [illegible]. They are, however, making the best of a most [illegible] and [illegible] arrangement of the [illegible].

[illegible]

[illegible] beautiful specimens of zephyrs Fair and flower have been placed in Mechanics Hall. There is also displayed a collection of monochromatic drawings representing Lakes Lucerne and George and the Three Brothers by Mr [illegible] which are really exquisite. Chadbourne & Shindler will have a fine display of furniture in this hall and the exhibitions of musical instruments will also be made here by [illegible] & Co. If the skies clear this department will present a fine appearance by Tuesday and will, besides, be resonant with sweet sounds that will [illegible] attract the multitude. A closer look at the [illegible] entered for the Oregon Natural History [illegible] by Prof O B Johnson shows two cases of insects—divided into noxious and [illegible] which are a study and delight to the [illegible] even if unscientific observer. Ornithology is represented by a number of insect destroying and [illegible] birds many of which are so perfectly preserved and arranged in a manner so life like as to [illegible] that they have been deprived of [illegible] the hands of the taxidermist [illegible] received a name in unpronounceable [illegible] and been mounted for exhibition. Dr Mattison though making no entries in this department displays twelve varieties of bird and two of animals prepared by himself. One of the latter having the unpronounceable name of the showtl is found only on the west [illegible] slope of the coast mountains and is very rare and consequently much sought by naturalists. Essaying a description of the animal is almost as difficult as spelling and pronouncing his name so we will merely say he is a tailless nondescript about the size and color of a red squirrel.

It is evident after viewing division J in the ladies department that the industries that render famous the names of our grandmothers cannot yet be numbered among the lost arts. Mrs Elizabeth Plummer of Dallas a lady sixty years of age exhibits yarn carded and spun by herself. Mrs Walker of Turner a lady of 70 years two coverlets in old fashioned blue and white woven by herself, the yarn which forms the warp and woof being spun and colored by her daughter Mrs J M Kinsey. A daughter of the latter fifteen years old exhibits a piece of stair carpet prepared and woven by her own hands. Several pairs of home made blankets are exhibited and home made woolen stocking soft and white or blue clouded, recall the days of our childhood. Some ten or twelve samples of rag carpet of bright colors and durable texture are shown together with stair carpeting woven of yarn of colors finely blended. A pair of home made table linens and towels finished with netted fringe recall stories of the home industries of old colonial times. They are entered by Mrs C Moores and are probably family heirlooms. Division K containing the work of girls under twelve years of age bids fair to be well filled. The superintendent Mrs George Cook of Salem has an unbounded interest in the work of the little folks and is busy arranging it to the best possible advantage for display. In division L composed of silk linen worsted and cotton embroideries some beautiful specimens are exhibited. Enough has been entered in this division to make a fine showing when properly placed as it will be early next week. Among the most attractive articles noticed is a set of pillow shams by Mrs. J H Ray of Eola in colored wools surrounded by a border of raised flowers artistically formed of zephyrs. In division N some fine specimens of crochet work are shown. Foremost among these is a sofa cover the work of Miss Helen Burton of Portland in the erection of which much patience skill and taste are shown. Numerous entries have been made in this the miscellaneous department but few articles comparatively have been placed. Division K is slowly filling up with jellies preserved fruits etc. A distinction has been made and very [illegible] between fruits and vegetables canned by machinery and those canned at home, the former not being allowed to compete with the latter on equal terms for premiums though placed in the same division.

In one corner of the art department the Rubber Paint Company find space to display that durable and necessary article, and just opposite the already famous Oregon remedies prepared by Wm [illegible] under promise to cure the ills that exposure to the weather during this fair may induce.

In summing up for the third day we will say that the pavilion begins to present a fair appearance despite the foul weather. Superintendent Brown calls our attention to an innovation in the ladies department and glancing in the direction indicated we observe two young ladies Miss Myra Belt and Miss Ollie Chamberlain in Marshal's regalia—an innovation that appears in every sense becoming. High hopes of good weather are entertained for next week and these hopes though extremely foggy your reporter cordially joins.

The weather yesterday and last night was so bad that the directors concluded to put in the time in devising the best plans to get out of the present difficulties in which the inclement weather has involved them. This however is no easy task. Man proposes but he don't make fair weather. The society however found a dry place to meet and having met among other things adopted the following resolutions:

WHEREAS We deem the establishment of a competing line of transcontinental railroad a subject of vast commercial interest to our entire country and

WHEREAS The increase of facilities for competing navigation on the Columbia river is of great importance to aid in the development of the western division of this country traversed by the Northern Pacific railroad line as well as of great local interest to the people of Oregon therefore

Resolved We reiterate our declarations of one year ago in favor of extending time to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company for the completion of their road and also in favor of completion of locks at the Cascade fall of the Columbia river by the United States government at the earliest possible time.

Resolved We respectfully call the attention of our state legislature to the importance of sustaining our representative and senators in congress by joint memorial or otherwise from their body in furtherance of the objects of these resolutions.

Resolved The secretary of this society is requested to prepare copies of the foregoing preamble and resolutions and the president is hereby elected a committee of one to see such copies transmitted to our representative and senators in congress.

Resolved, That the secretary is instructed to forward to the members of the legislature copies of these resolutions and to supply the same to reporters for the newspapers on the grounds.

The motion to allow entries in all departments to be made at any time before 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday was adopted.

An attempt to get some information in regard to the stock present on the grounds this forenoon was almost a signal failure. Going out from the pavilion toward the horse stalls we wade across the streets and come to numerous booths well filled with candies nuts fruits and fancy notions pies cakes and soda water lemonade cider beer and stronger fluids and at the counters stand men who are calling loudly and persistently on the few wandering individuals who are strolling through the mud to "come right up and buy five fine Havana cigars for a quarter," "a pound of ginger bread for five cents," or "delicious ice cream for two bits a dish." Considering that the temperature of the atmosphere is down to about 47° the point of the latter expression is more keenly felt than seen.

Further on we come to the locality of the shows, and here we see further signs of persistence in business under difficulties in a few individuals who stand with hat rims down blanketed shoulders and hoarse voices crying out, "right this way ladies and gentlemen step on the inside and the see greatest wonder ever exhibited on the Pacific coast or in the world. Here you can see the wonderful two legged calf the dog with two heads and the chicken with no head at all. Here is the great fire eater who gulps down flame like a Dutchman does lager beer, the man who eats stone like a hungry boy does watermelon, the North Carolina slave who is 54 years old only 26 inches high and weighs but 32 pounds yet enjoys the best of health. Walk right in ladies and gentlemen and if you are not satisfied your money will be cheerfully refunded." And we look for the crowd to which these vociferous remarks are made and see three or four solitary men trudging through the mud paying no attention to the desperate appeals of the vociferous showman.

Reaching the stalls where the horses are kept we find them closed and the attendants are probably inside asleep in the hay waiting for a gleam of sunshine. Despairing of finding out much here we tramp to the stalls for cattle and are informed that we had better wait until next week that is if two of those who intend to exhibit in this line have brought their animals in. We however recognize some splendid specimens of sheep, horned cattle and swine but the owners are not here to give us any account of them. Col [illegible] Sayre & Sons have very fine cattle (short horns) and [illegible] add much to this department. James Withycomb of Washington county shows some superior thoroughbred sheep and hogs. [illegible] of Marion county has his card on some pens which contain very fine merino sheep [illegible] J L [illegible] sheep and goats which can't very easily be beaten. Mr L Myers of Salem is just filling several coops with fine bred fowls and here will be found a crowd after he and others get their displays arranged.

Thos Cross and John Minto leaders in the swine and sheep interest respectively have not all their stock on the ground yet. When their stalls are filled we need look no further for perfect ones. There are now on the ground many other specimen cattle sheep etc but there are no cards on the pens no owners near and your correspondent finds it impossible to get at facts so as to give anything like a detailed description now. Next week we will go through the Fair rain or shine but at present we will do what we wish the weather would do—dry up.

The total receipts of the society so far have not exactly reached but are estimated by the secretary up to this time at $6,000 whereas if the weather had been good they would probably have reached $20,000.

The side shows are ready to show and some have commenced with but little success. J M Ward and wife, P J Wade and wife and others are among those in attendance.

Fitzgerald & Kennedy's company at the Opera House Salem opened on Monday night in the Celebrated Case, changing bill on Wednesday to Pink Dominoes. Last night they put on the Octoroon and for matinee to day "Celebrated Case" in the evening Oliver Twist and Forbidden Fruit. The company is a good one and deserves better houses. They put on and produce plays fully as well if not better than any company we have seen in the state since Waldron's time. Monday night "Baby" will be presented. The Northwestern Band of Portland play outside and inside and form a feature of the entertainment.

THE OREGONIAN is a central point where everybody comes to seek the latest news. The paper is represented by two correspondents and a business agent. Three newsboys distribute the double number promptly after the morning train arrives.

In a fine building recently erected Mr Dell Linderman is exhibiting the famous talking phonograph, and Mr J E Strong has in the same building one of Bell's telephones, which connects with O B Johnson's Salem. Both are in good order and are most deserving enterprises.

Frank Mollthrop of the Portland office is delivering express matter to parties on the grounds.

The society have sensibly strewn sawdust on the crossings which renders them more passable. This arrangement should be kept up from day to day as it is greatly appreciated.

Twenty seven liquor and cigar dealers licenses have been issued by Deputy Collector Gamble, the receipts from which is $450. This is a larger showing than any previous year.

Superintendent Brandt has quite a party ensconsed in his car at the depot, and they seem to have a good time in their palatial quarters.

Matt Keith is running a music or dance hall on the outside.

The Singer and Willson sewing machine agencies and Wm Beck & Son have put up rooms near the main gate in fine style.

S B 102 to regulate foreign corporations second amendment adopted third amendment brought about a lengthy discussion

Hirsch offered an an ammendment to an amendment, which provided that foreign companies should pay their taxes in the places where their principal business offices were this amendment was lost

Smith offered a larger amendment which he thought was so arranged that men could not dodge paying their taxes as he thought the bill would allow them to without his amendment

Watt offered some very clear and apparently well founded arguments against the amendment and against the whole measure showing that taxes were already paid on money that was loaned in the country by foreign corporations

Smith finally withdrew his amendment and the third amendment was adopted

Pending the question on the passage of the bill, the senate adjourned.

EVENING SESSION

Palmer moved that as one of the pages is sick the president be allowed to appoint another The president appointed Dick Hensley

Palmer moved that the senate resolve itself into committee of the whole to consider S B [illegible] carried

Burch of Yamhill took the chair at the request of the president.

S B 99—An act to provide for the leasing of the penitentiary and convict labor and to prescribe rules and regulations for the leasing of the penitentiary and convict labor and to prescribe rules and regulations for the government of said convicts and to repeal certain sections of the general laws of Oregon

Cochran moved an amendment, to strike out the first section and leave the penitentiary to be let to the lowest bidder for a price not over 25 cents a day

Myers moved an amendment to the amendment striking out [illegible] and inserting 15 carried

Mr Smith was opposed to the amendment, he thought the convicts should not be let out to the lowest bidder It is a grave question he had doubts about the expediency of the measure and he was sure he could not vote for it, if this amendment was adopted

Haines was opposed to Chinamen running the penitentiary and thought if this amendment was carried there would be danger of some one getting it who would be as low down as the convicts are

Myers thought the amendment only a fair proposition and if it would save the state money it ought to pass

Cochran thought some of the gentlemen very much afraid of Chinamen. He did not think there was any danger that the governor and secretary would lease the convicts to Chinamen or mean men He has more confidence in them than to think it He did not like the time fifteen years thought it ought to be cut down, but the experiment ought to be tried

Fulton hoped the amendment would not pass He did not see why we could not find as good and honorable a man to conduct the penitentiary business and oversee it as we could to lease it He feared the adoption of the amendment would leave the door open to hard usage He thought it was the duty of the state to keep them under its immediate control He thought it neither right or just to auction them off in this way He thought the time too long That institution ought to be self sustaining long before that time was out In fact he believed it might be now else why do people want it

The amendment was adoptment

Moved to adopt section 1 as amended carried

Moved to adopt section 2

Amendment offered by Lord

An amendment to the amendment offered by Brown ruled out of order after some discussion as being an amendment to the bill instead of the amendment

Two more amendments were offered one that the convicts should be furnished with fresh meat half the time then fish was suggested and in the general muss that followed Haley moved that the committee now rise and report progress which motion prevailed, and after doing so the senate adjourned

House.

House met at 10 A M

Committee of conference on H B 133 relating to per diem of assessors reported and report was laid on the table

H B 11 To prevent bull running at large was amended to include only W[illegible] [illegible] Lake coun[illegible] [illegible] passed

H B [illegible]—Relating to swamp lands w[illegible] has a provision that forfeits [illegible] have not paid the 20 per cent on [illegible]

Gates moved amendment to that clause by adding provided nothing in this act shall be so construed as to forfeit or default any legal rights heretofore acquired under the laws of this state or to prevent applicants for the purchase of any swamp or overflowed lands from proceeding to comply with the requirements of said laws within the time the [illegible] limited Gates favored this amendment [illegible] he felt that [illegible] the [illegible] of speculators It w[illegible] [illegible] that this bill will put $ 0[illegible] [illegible] pocket He was not a party to th[illegible] [illegible]

Purdin objected to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] amount of [illegible] under the swamp land act He favored small applicants and opposed the withholding of large tracts from settlement

Grant being in the chair Mr Speaker Thompson said the effect of this bill is to exclude those who have not paid the twenty per cent required by law It was proposed to let the questions in the court [illegible] a man can hold lands for forty years by s[illegible] [illegible] without any other compliance with law This bill requires payment of $ [illegible] per acre when no reclamation is made though claimants of small tracts can purchase at one dollar an acre He wanted to know who [illegible] would make $ [illegible] if this bill passed It was not those who have made small filings

The speaker went on to show up and bitterly denounce those who were trying to influence legislation They cannot comprehend an unselfish motive or high minded devotion to duty too narrow to have a desire beyond their own sordid and selfish schemes they fail to understand a nature whose self love extends to the limits and takes in the interests of the state Hence they are not to be blamed that nothing of theirs is pure, and that they never had a disinterested thought or a generous impulse so are unable to understand such feelings in others He showed the inconsistency of the old law If Mr Gates is correct we are powerless in the hands of grabbers He wanted to pass a law and put matters in the hands of the courts How many small amounts are applied for Not a crop in the bucket Owen is very solicitous for fear this bill shall pass He has not paid a cent and this law will prevent his grab

Thompson of Multnomah said he was a member of the legislature of 18[illegible] by which the original and infamous swamp land law was passed The money paid into the treasury has been by small claimants with one exception and he was [illegible] man who does [illegible] the state The grabbers have not paid they have only [illegible] and refuse to pay the [illegible] per cent He discovered that the pressure at this time was in the interest of the same men who lobbied the bill through in 1870 If this bill passes it cannot vitiate any rights parties possess under the old law where contracts have been complied with What is necessary is to legislate to correct the evils of the past and prevent their continuance what we want is to let the courts say what the rights of these parties are if they have any

Starkweather said that Gates amendment changed the whole intention of the bill seeks to provide operation of the old law and enable those who have made claims to complete their grab We cannot overturn any vested right but propose to dispossess those who have not complied with law and if they have not complied they have acquired no vested rights He believed the old law contradicts the constitution of the United States as to primary disposal of the soil as we as yet have no title to those lands and have no right to dispose of them When the legislature went in advance of surveys and sold that soil it went against the constitution of the United States It is apparent that the present bill has been gotten up in the interest of actual settlers Immense tracts are now held by speculators but if this bill passes in a few years it will be occupied by permanent settlers

Ramsby moved the previous question

Gates was confident that he did not represent a single person who claimed over 320 acres of land The law under which the proposed purchases was made was lame in not providing for approval of the secretary of the interior The state has no swamp lands until approved It is the duty of the state to select them The secretary of the interior says so in correspondence We have a statute that invites all persons to make application for swamp lands know of only one instance in Wasco county who has applied for over a section A man may prove reclamation and yet not get title, there were many small applicants there and he represented them and they were cut out unless they had paid their 20 per cent, and that would be injustice to them Until there is approval by the general government there is no right to the land The state has not got that approval, and these parties will be injured if they are cut off as this bill provides He represented a county that did not have land grabbers in it. He held the state had complied with its contract with these men The state has made default and you wish to dispossess them on the default made by the state They have a right to wait until the state fulfills its part The state has no right to declare the contract forfeited

Purdin replied to Gates that as the bill permitted small claimants to buy at $1 per acre his argument resembled the shearing of a hog—a great cry and very little wool

Broback represented Lake county where the operation of the swamp land act cursed the country He knew Mr Owen and he trembled in his boots for fear this law would pass He would not pay a dollar on his million acres if this bill passed He had paid nothing yet and was backed up by some men in California who would not dare to act if this bill became a law His section was cursed by swamp land claimants and if this amendment passes the curse will be continued

Stearns showed that any legal rights parties possessed could be settled in the courts The swamp land act was odious Millions of acres had been filed on He claimed it was necessary that the 20 per cent should have been paid, and when not paid the claimants have no legal claim Hoped bill would pass as it stood, without amendment

Previous question was moved and lost

Townsend said it was thrown at him that he favored this bill in the interest of the "cow men or small land holders He was one of the committee that got up the bill It protected the rights of all large holders and small If a man has complied with the law he cannot be dispossessed He had asked Judge Boise to scan the bill carefully and see if it was in his judgment unconstitutional If he found any objections he was to mark them on the bill and send it to me If not he was to do nothing and as he had not heard from him he felt satisfied that in Judge Boise s opinion, the bill was constitutional Adjourned

It is safe to say the amendment of Gates will be voted down It has served a good purpose and shown the uncompromising opposition of the house to the old swamp land act

AFTERNOON SESSION

Galloway was granted leave of absence on account of sickness in his family

Discussion on the swamp land act was resumed and Reed spoke in favor of the Gates amendment as he thought section 9 did away with vested rights If one individual is to be wronged by this bill it is not our province to enact it

Mr Speaker explained that it was to set aside claims made by simply handing in a slip of paper saying a man claimed so much swamp land and neither paying anything on it or reclaiming it

Reed resumed—The state only offered to make conveyance of such right as the state had where parties pay $2 50 per acre before January 1880

Speaker explained that the state never makes anything but quit claim deeds to any land sold

Purdin said the law plainly referred to all who have not paid the 20 per cent required he wanted to know if the gentleman from Marion wanted to recognize those who had not complied with the law If a single link was wanting the parties can not hold

Reed said that when the state was at fault, should parties be held to full compliance when they have complied in part their rights should be fully protected He alluded to what was said about Judge Boise as the judge did not make corrections to the bill and returned it to Townsend without comment that was claimed to be an authority as to the constitutionality of the bill as drawn

Townsend explained that Judge Boise did not return the bill at all the gentleman misunderstood him

The vote was taken on the amendment of Mr Gates—ayes [illegible] noes 48

Those voting aye were Messrs Chandler C[illegible] [illegible] Chenoweth Caldwell Gates Hughes Johnson Reed Webdell absent Campbell Galloway Stearns—3 So the amendment was lost

Purdin moved to amend and said this amendment trespassed on no vested rights The claimants knew the law and could not expect to hold their claims unless they complied with If it was said the lands cannot be reclaimed he asked what besides that was the object in giving these lands to the state except to insure their reclamation This amendment required that they shall comply with the old law They can pay one dollar an acre and reclaim the lands within ten years from the time of filing Was not in favor of passing any act of easement for the benefit of these speculators

Broback hoped the amendment would not prevail To drain and reclaim the land in many instances will ruin them for practical use as they are now valuable because they produce grasses

Gates thought the amendment a good one and favored it although it placed the state and purchasers in a singular position He failed to find any provision that provided for securing the title of these lands from the government The amendment carried out the old law in every particular—land must be reclaimed in ten years If a man complies with the law he is entitled to a deed, whether the state has one or not. Before a forfeiture could be declared he thought the state should have carried out its contract and be ready to make a deed

Purdin s amendment was lost by about the same vote as Gates ayes 16 nays 3[illegible]

Evarts thought the price ($2 50 per acre) too high and moved to insert same sum required by act under which land was located It was like selling a horse for $100 $20 down and $80 after awhile He thought it would be better where applications had been regularly made and the 20 per centum paid—did not see how we could go back on them, thought it contrary to the constitution of the United States

Scott thought [illegible] [illegible] a man to pr[illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Evarts [illegible] [illegible] amendment and moved to [illegible] [illegible] that this section should [illegible] [illegible] to which they have a [illegible] He explained that [illegible] they were sometimes bo[illegible] [illegible] and it was intended to re[illegible] [illegible] forfeiture

Broback [illegible] would fail and mem[illegible] [illegible] an amendment to that bill for he [illegible] [illegible] it up amend[illegible]

[illegible] to ask [illegible] for [illegible] by the secretary of [illegible]

[illegible] approved was the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

swamp lands—it [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] not [illegible] with [illegible] that this land [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] their land there [illegible]

Purdin quoted the case of [illegible] vs Scott [illegible] Wapat [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] decided the [illegible] [illegible] granted to the state [illegible] [illegible] at the state had a title [illegible]

Evarts thought [illegible] that required approval by the general government

Campbell said that either the government [illegible] patent lands to the state or [illegible] he could not understand the U S statute and [illegible] read it

The amendment [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for the lands [illegible] the state

Gates did not think the Wapato [illegible] decision [illegible] would affect the patent [illegible] [illegible] from the general government [illegible] of the swamp character of the lands [illegible] the secretary of the interior before patent can issue He thought the old law good enough if it had been lived up to and approval in it [illegible] that the approval of the government should be procured

The speaker explained that the bill contains a provision that [illegible] agent appointed to secure the title to the lands

Scott thought if the amendment should prevail it would defeat the object of [illegible] [illegible] and not sell them until the lands are approved and the applicants now on file can hold them as long as they please

Thompson explained the modus operandi by which lands are patented to the state that they are approved by the secretary of the interior and the state notified thereof

Campbell said something [illegible] lacking, no description had been furnished of lands claimed to be swamp land We have a grant of lands but no description is given of them We need a patent to say that such and such land is swamp and then the state can know what to dispose of

Townsend said he thought the bill plain enough as it stood and the house thought so too for it voted the amendment down

Evarts moved to strike out section [illegible] that made wagon road warrants payable out of the swamp land fund receivable in payment for land

Evarts spoke to the question thought there was a job in it and quoted a newspaper comment on the decision of the state said THE OREGONIAN took high moral grounds [illegible] generally does thought the court s decision did not relieve us of moral obligations but did not want the bill to be encumbered with this provision there are two bills in the [illegible] on this subject we never did receive the face value of these warrants and he only proposed to pay back as much value as we have received then he quoted from THE OREGONIAN as to the robbery committed by the state in issuing these warrants and then not redeeming them and that the state was in equity bound to pay

Gates thought the gentleman from Umatilla was worse than THE OREGONIAN he invited us to repudiate the contracts of this state about $200 000 of such warrants were issued for internal improvements as soon as $200 000 had been granted out of the proceeds of the 500 000 acres of the internal improvement fund (referring to the canal and locks bill) then before the ink was dry the rest of the fund was transferred to the common school fund spoke of the necessity of an improvement fund and the issue of the road warrants with that idea in mind warrants had been sold for 50 cents on the dollar no less that he knew of Evarts so said, wanted to repudiate them altogether hoped the gentleman would be as generous as THE OREGONIAN was

Scott said the committee last night made the price $2 50 an acre because they felt that the warrants being sold at a discount would be turned in payment so they concluded to put up the price

Evarts thought we promised to be more liberal to the bondholders than to the taxpayers

Cole said this section carried out the soul of republican doctrine of resumption and he favored it

The amendment received only three votes and was lost

Campbell wanted to further amend

Reeves also wished to amend and both hoped the motion to order the bill engrossed would not pass

Hewitt considered the bill too important to have any gag on debate motion withdrawn

Campbell moved to amend to include all state lands in the proviso that where money is paid in under misapprehension and the purchaser fails to perfect title, that the money shall be repaid in all such cases amendment voted down

Gates said he had an amendment he thought the house would adopt Strike out sec [illegible] which does away with the land office at La Grande He made a plea for the people of that section and the hardship that it would be to them to have to come to Salem to attend to the land business

Scott showed that the board has its agents in different parts of the state and thought great expense can be saved the state by having a local agent instead of a register

Thompson quoted from the inaugural of Gov Thayer who seemed to think such an office unconstitutional

Chandler said there was a great deal of vacant land there and the office is a great convenience to that country even if it should prove a little more expense than a local agent

The speaker showed that maps and plats were to remain in the hands of the local agent so that the people would still be accommodated

Hughes said they were so situated there that they needed this office There was more business there than almost any where else in the state and in winter they were shut off by a range of mountains frequently covered by snow

A vote was taken on the amendment and it was adopted ayes 31 noes 21

Scott moved to reconsider as he thought some voted under a misapprehension

Chandler moved to indefinitely postpone the motion to reconsider

Scott showed that the county treasurer can do the work for Union county for $50 or $[illegible] a month and showed what was the case in the several counties It is now a great expense to the state, and an expense that can well be avoided

Gates was quite indignant at the proposition to reconsider and reviewed the whole matter from the passage of the donation law down. He said it was intended to compel people to come all the way to Salem to buy a piece of land He did not believe a rose would smell as sweet by any other name This bill does not provide for any local agent there Let the people then have facilities That officer is appointed by the governor and is an agent of the state but is called a register You say have a local agent but provide not a dollar for his services business will be delayed you prescribe no duties for the agent and name no salary Union county has more state lands than all the Willamette valley

Starkweather regretted that it was not possible to give the people of Union county an officer of this character without violating the constitution, whereas that instrument says the state board shall act in this capacity to dispose of state lands

White said that he had always believed that the law for the register of the land office at La Grande was unconstitutional it had cost the state over $5 000 a year and he believed a local agent with the maps and plans could do all the business there had been two defalcations there previous to incumbency of present register Mr Shinn he helped to frame the constitution and wanted to see it complied with

Hewitt said the register was in the nature of an agent and does not sell land so it was not unconstitutional

Reed was disposed to be liberal to the east of the mountains If the members from east of the mountains were agreed on this matter he would feel like agreeing with them he thought a local agent was sufficient on the same plea made for Union county they might ask for one in Lake Jackson and Josephine the former register was here and was understood to say that there was no more use for such an office than for a fifth wheel to a wagon

Scott quoted showing that in nineteen months the expenses had been over $ [illegible] a year or that office—about one third of the receipts during that time

Wright said it was found four years ago that it would cost more to supply maps to the counties than to maintain the office

Newman wanted information as to the constitutionality of the matter as some were conscientious

The Speaker explained his vote that he believed the office unconstitutional and was induced to vote against the amendment from motives of economy The office was no unconstitutional when passed in 1870 and since then the land had passed to the school fund which placed it within the constitutional proviso that the state board should control their sale. He believed from his experience in Lane county that the people could be accommodated by a local agent

Starkweather said that office held notes for $57 000, and he believed the school board the safest custodian of the same.

A motion to indefinitely postpone was lost—24 to 3[illegible]—but it took sharp work to make the members understand the exact nature of the motion and it first looked as if the house intended to perpetuate the La Grande office but it does not look it now

The house then adjourned

Senate.

SALEM Oct 1[illegible]

The senate was called to order by the president at 10 Prayer offered by Rev F P Tower of the Methodist Church of this city

Cochran thinks this bill an [illegible] to be [illegible] what is called an omnibus [illegible] [illegible] thinks the amendment will have the effect to raise the price of goods or put down competition [illegible] He does not think it desirable

Hirsch did not claim [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] the bill in on the merits [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] he had intended to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] presented it

THE PLUMMER FRUIT DRIER.

How shall I make a fortune? Why, if you are a farmer and have an orchard, get hold of one of the and your fortune is assured. Just think of it. In primitive New England days the frugal housewives and their thrifty daughters used to dry nearly all the family groceries by peeling apples by hand and drying them around the kitchen stove or in the sun. A very slow and tedious process, to be sure, but still it was done. But presto! change! See what human ingenuity has devised! The Plummer Fruit Drier is to the fruit-drying process what the sewing machine is to the household sewing, what the gang plow is to the ranch, what the spinning jenny is to the mill. It is the great labor-saving machine, the great money-making invention to the fruit raiser.

WHAT IS THE PLUMMER FRUIT DRIER?

Briefly, it is a large, well contrived construction, capable of holding some fifteen or twenty frames or trays together with so many square yards of galvanized wire cloth on which to spread the fruit. This frame may be set in the orchard, or any other accessible and convenient place, and it can be operated by a couple of boys or girls, and is guaranteed to dry from one and a half to two bushels of apples per hour. Just for a moment stop and compute the worth of such a machine in a household. We are not speaking now of its labor-saving advantages. We refer chiefly to its

CAPACITY FOR MONEY MAKING.

It is a fact that over three hundred of these driers are now in successful operation in the State of Oregon and Washington territory. The parties using them are drying from $300 to $1,200 worth of fruit each year, and using only the regular force of labor in the family at odd times, or in stormy weather. Is not this a source of revenue worth looking after? Besides this, the fruit dried by this process by these same people has been by the Oregon State Agricultural Society. The flavor, color and condition of the fruit is unsurpassed. It has been a crying sin and shame that so much delicious fruit has gone to waste. Heretofore there has not been any means for getting it to market, and it has been left to decay upon the ground. What a waste! Now it can all be made a source of revenue.

THE CHILDREN CAN BE SET TO WORK, and thus two great ends may be conserved at the same time, namely, the fruit can be made to yield a handsome income, while the children are learning the grand wholesome lessons of thrift, industry and economy. We repeat: Every farmer who has fruit should by all means have one of these incomparable Fruit Driers. And it is to be remembered that there are as the Plummer. It has received the most flattering credentials from all parts of the country. It would take a solid column to enumerate the different well known names whose credentials stand for the Plummer Fruit Drier. We have omitted to state that there are different sized driers. The Factory Drier is much larger, and is capable of drying [illegible] of fruit per hour. It requires four men to work this machine. These machines are peculiarly adapted to the preservation of fruit by the "Plummer Process," which is already a world-wide celebrity. [illegible]. Tomatoes, and, in fact, all kinds of vegetables and fruits can be successfully dried by this same process.

FULL INSTRUCTIONS ARE GIVEN,

and those who visit the Fair should by all means examine these Driers for themselves. [illegible] polite and courteous attention is given to all, and the genial consideration given to inquiries makes it a delight to [illegible]. Everybody should make it a point to see the celebrated Plummer Fruit Drier. Every fruit-raiser should study his interest by purchasing one of them. The investment would prove as rich as the Bodie, and more permanent.—S. F. Bulletin.

Flattering testimonials to the operating work done by the Plummer Fruit Drier continue to pour in upon the inventor. No machine compares with it in cheapness and the effective manner in which it works. Eighty cases of fruit recently sent to the Paris Exposition, the telegraph announces was awarded the Paris Medal. This, together with the great Centennial Medal, that was awarded at Philadelphia in 1876, and the gold medals of the State of Oregon in 1876 and 1877, only shows the appreciation of this invention by the public at large. For drying it has no equal. Oregon has such a number of these Driers in operation that she is enabled to export a staple article of dried fruit unsurpassed by any in the world, thereby creating a demand that is continually increasing in importance. The fine flavor which the fruits of this region contain, is all preserved by this process, making them equal to green fruit, destroying the toughness common to dried fruits, and impervious to all insects, making it perfectly safe for the merchant to invest at all seasons of the year without fear of having it destroyed by vermin. Fruit dried by the Plummer process may be kept for years and yet retain all its nutritious and nourishing qualities, and will become a great source of revenue to any state where it may be introduced. Everything that is preserved by it is absolutely pure, as no chemicals are used in the curing of Fruits, Meats or Vegetables.

These Driers have all been manufactured up to this time in Oregon under the supervision of the inventor, and every machine properly set and purchasers fully instructed in its operation and in the preparing and packing of fruits. I ask the fruit-growers of Oregon to investigate this process, and although all other Fruit Driers have been partial failures financially, this one has proven itself a grand success in three hundred and fifty distinct cases. Do not let this year's crop pass without a full investigation of its merits, and purchase before you lose another season valuable to yourself and family. Address,

W. S. PLUMMER, E. Portland, Ogn.

ROOT TEA!

The Reliable Cure for Chronic Complaints of Liver and Kidneys.

THE ONLY THOROUGH BLOOD CLEANSER. The most pleasing, grateful and satisfactory Strengthening Balsam known, constantly effecting surprising cures of wasting or debilitating diseases and complaints arising from weak or impure blood, feeble circulation or impaired digestion, when all modes of treatment fail. Is of great benefit in threatened or actual consumption and heart disease, owing to its peculiar and great influence on the circulation. For the ills and weaknesses of women it is Nature's most suitable and reliable remedy.

LIVER--KIDNEYS.

Its regulating and strengthening action on these organs is different to and more desirable than that of any article heretofore in use; for indigestion, biliousness, etc., as a tonic, anti-malarial, etc., it is unequaled while in chronic complaints it gives relief when all other remedies fail, and is frankly acknowledged to be the only cure for many chronic complaints of a complicated nature.

CATARRH.

The success of the CALIFORNIA ROOT TEA in curing Catarrh is proverbial, and surprises many who do not understand the nature of this terrible disease, which in most cases can be permanently cured only through the blood by a thorough course of this vegetable remedy, conceded to be the only thorough and permanent blood cleanser known, a course of it completely eradicating for all time the most virulent types of blood and skin diseases rheumatism, etc. All who use it, leading druggists and physicians gladly attest its great sterling worth.

Sold in its truly vegetable form, in packets at $1 each packet makes a quart of rich balsam, of which the dose is two spoonsful three times daily, making its cost much less than other medicines. Make like tea or put in wine, etc: pleasant to take when nicely sweetened. Sold by druggists and country merchants. N. B.—Until further notice it will be sent by express or mail to any address on receipt of Express or Postoffice order, one packet $1 or six for $5 00.

He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world-wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, OCT. 14, 1878.

PROPHETIC WORDS RECALLED.

It was the legislative assembly of 1870 that opened the door to much of the swindling which is now coming to light. This was the session held at the opening of the Grover administration. It was this body that helped Grover and Chadwick to "organize the offices," and enacted the legislation that gave the land grabbers' ring the opportunity they have so industriously improved. In summing up the record of the session of that year, after the adjournment, THE OREGONIAN said: "This legislature has been more extravagant than any former one. Extra compensation has been allowed for all its servants, and new places have been made for place hunters. Perquisites have been created for state officials in defiance of the constitution, and salaries will be many times larger than heretofore. Measures have been rushed through for seizing the lands of the state and converting them into spoil for enrichment of a ring. Only a portion of the operators as yet have a share of the plunder, as divers 'wagon roads' and other schemes for using up the remainder of the lands failed for the present, but that remainder stands ready to be jobbed out by the next legislature, if another legislature like the recent one can ever be raked together again." Let readers of THE OREGONIAN say whether these statements have not been fully verified.

On Friday last a bill relating to swamp lands was under discussion in the house. This bill contains a provision which forfeits to the state the lands on which claimants have filed, and yet have not paid the twenty per cent. required by law. It is amazing that a bill of this kind should be opposed in the legislature. That it should be is a striking indication of the power the lobby still exerts in behalf of schemes of jobbery and spoliation, notwithstanding recent disclosures. Hon. D. P. Thompson, who has taken a leading part in recent investigations, declared that the money paid into the treasury had been by small claimants, with one exception, and he was a man who does not live in the state; that the grabbers have not paid but have only filed, and refuse to pay the twenty per cent.; that he was a member of the legislature of 1870, by which the original and infamous swamp land law was passed, and had warned the assembly against it; and he now observed that the same men who lobbied that bill through are again on hand to oppose any legislation for recovery or protection of what may be left of the property of the state. Words like these ought to awaken public attention to the shamelessness of the ring, and cause the public to mark those members of the legislature who yet do its bidding.

THOROUGH INVESTIGATION.

Recent developments at the capital show how little former investigations have been worth. At every session of the legislature committees have been appointed to investigate the management of various departments of the state government, and invariably they have made reports whitewashing everything and everybody. What has now come to light shows how utterly worthless former investigations have been. Presumption is at once raised against the thoroughness of the work done by committees in this behalf at former sessions; and what is now demanded is an inquiry which shall extend over all the transactions of the state officials during the last eight years. Nothing less will make a satisfactory showing. Investigate not only the management of lands, but the entire transactions of the secretary of state and state treasurer during eight years past; let light be thrown into all the dark and crooked places in the management of the school fund and the state printing; explore all the secrets in the management of the penitentiary, and let witnesses be allowed to tell all they know about any and all of these affairs and transactions. Let us have an investigation to reveal things, and not to conceal them. An inquiry conducted with a care lest witnesses tell too much, is no inquiry at all. It is a mockery of investigation. Now that committees are on the track, let us see who will take the responsibility of throwing obstacles in the way. There is a mine of corruption and peculation now opening into whose dark places a light may be thrown which will reveal a continuous series of venal and fraudulent transactions. Push the investigation. Make it thorough. Unseal those books in the public offices. Call witnesses who can tell and will tell what Chadwick and others have been doing, or who will put a committee on the track of the information desired. It is all easy enough if the legislature is only willing to do it. Already there are indications enough to show where testimony may be found. Will the legislature give full powers, and let the people see the bottom of all the shameful business of the last eight years? There is a loud demand for full and thorough inquiry, and the culprits are quaking with fear lest their corrupt transactions may be followed to their heretofore secret hiding places. Will the legislature do its full duty?

It is not well to expect too much of human nature; therefore it is not surprising that the Standard should indulge a little scream of triumph over the success achieved in the legislature by Dr. Hawthorne. In the steady profits of keeping the insane, aggregating from twenty to thirty thousand dollars a year, and constantly increasing, there is a good bank for "the party" and its organs to draw upon, as heretofore.

To-day the committee which has been investigating the state printing will report. It is understood there will be some interesting disclosures. If the committee has done its full duty the people will see how they have been swindled out of fifty thousand dollars in the printing since the offices were "organized."

About the only sensible resolutions yet adopted hereabouts in relation to the Northern Pacific railroad are those of the state agricultural society, printed in our report from the fair. This body honestly favors the road and would not kill it with restrictions.

Many times recently THE OREGONIAN has called attention to the necessity of a law to provide greater security for the state funds. Yet we see no progress toward any result in this direction. Is nothing to be done?

A dispatch from the president of the state agricultural society informs us that trials of speed at the fair will begin at one o'clock to-day.

A "SAINT'S" VERSION.

HEN. OWEN UNBOSOMS HIMSELF ON SWAMP LAND TRANSACTIONS—PARTLY PLAUSIBLE AND PARTLY RATHER THIN.

SALEM, Oct. 12.

I have this morning spent an hour with the prince of "swamp land grabbers"—so called at least, H. C. Owen of Lane county, who can tell as much about matters of that kind as any man in the state. Being asked if he was willing to tell what he knew he responded freely, for "Hen. Owen" is a bold operator and not mealy-mouthed in his conversation. He did not give it all as positive information, but as partly facts of which he had knowledge, and partly hearsay that he gave reasonable credence to. This "sound, unvarnished tale" reads as follows:

WALKER AND HIS CREDENTIALS.

This man, R. M. Walker, came before the board of swamp lands commissioners with letters from Parks, Colby, Marysville Banking Association, and other parties who represented heavy capital in California, which set forth that he was their agent and representative, and that they desired, through him, to obtain title to the swamp lands in this state and relaim the same.

ABOUT CREDULOUS OREGONIANS.

Walker went around among the men who had filed on swamp lands, some of whom had paid twenty per cent. down, as required by law, and some of whom had not, but had packed lots of gold coin and showed it as a tender to the board, carrying it away again on the pretense or condition that as the state could not make a title they did not care to leave that amount idle on deposit. He represented to all these men that he would, inside of twelve months, return principal and interest on the money they had advanced; that he would list all their filings with the board in proper shape, and would go to Washington and have the lists approved, they to be at no trouble or expense, and to have a share, not less than one-fourth, in the lands they assigned to him or to his principals. Contracts were drawn with him as agent and the California principals as assignees, and with this understanding the original claimants very generally assigned their filings to him.

A CONFIDENCE GAME.

Walker told Owen he was going down to Salem to get something from the board to show what money had been paid upon these filings, to send the same to his principals as proof of what he was doing and how much swamp land he had contracted for. To pay his traveling and incidental expenses he borrowed $200 of Mr. Owen—for which that gentleman still retains his autograph—saying it would be sent back inside of twelve days. At this point the interviewed gentleman grew emphatic and a trifle profane in denunciation of the borrower.

WALKER AND THE STATE BOARD.

Mr. Owen says he knows all about the document Walker received from the board. The fact was, the original claimants were anxious to realize on their swamp lands, and the board wanted to take into the treasury two millions of dollars for those same lands; so matters were placed in as favorable a light as possible for Walker, so as to hasten the pouring of that amount of coin into the state coffers.

A LITTLE FORGERY MIXED IN.

"The d—d scoundrel ran away instead of carrying out his contracts." Not only did he betray the confidence of those who entrusted swamp land filings to him, and the board that endeavored to assist his negotiations, but he went to the general land office and copied notes of surveys made by Jim Evans to the amount of $40,000, being surveys made on public lands; and having copied those notes, he tried to get Evans to sign a receipt that the same was a survey of swamp lands, and that he had received pay for same. Evans did not see it in that light, could not be hired to do it. So Walker executed the receipts himself and forged Evans' name to it, and did first sign it correctly, one initial being wrong, and sent the document down to his principals in California as survey of swamp lands, that they might send him the coin to pay back the amount. With this document and his numerous assignments of swamp land filings, he seems to have victimized the California land grabbers, as we shall presently see, as he did not make known to them that these assignments were all made, conditioned on contracts also specifically entered into.

SOME EYES OPENED.

Some time after this Owen was in California and had interviews with these gentlemen, who claimed to represent nearly all the swamp lands in our state, to have receipt for $30,000, being the 20 per cent. on the 150,000 acres, and to have paid $40,000 besides for surveys. Mr. Owen told them he thought they would find that they did not have an acre of swamp land, and that the bill for surveys was a fraud. He was so convincing in his argument that Mr. Colby returned with him immediately to Oregon, and ascertained that matters run as stated.

WHAT OWEN THINKS ABOUT CHADWICK.

Owen went on to say that he did not believe Chadwick had, or was to have, a dollar out of the transaction. He was interested as a party man in justifying the acts of the Democratic administration under which the swamp land bill had passed. He thought it would be a big thing to have two millions of dollars come from California into the state treasury, from men who represented themselves as worth millions, and men able to reclaim the swamp lands. The board thought Oregon would then be the richest state in the union.

600,000 ACRES CLAIMED BY ONE MAN.

The above is the story kindly given me by Mr. H. C. Owen, whose connection with swamp lands is extensive, as he tells me he has filed on six hundred thousand acres, and says there is no doubt that the state has two million acres of such land, and he appears to be willing to own it all.

GRATUITOUS REMARKS.

The moral of the above interesting narrative is that the California speculators were "hoist with their own petard," and the only results otherwise seem to be that the state of Oregon has an excitement, and the festive Walker roams the world, footloose and fancy free, perhaps with enough coin in his pocket to make traveling agreeable, careless about swamp lands and indifferent to that trifling forgery.

THE CHIEF MURDERER.

"WHITE OWL," MURDERER OF COGGAN, IN PRISON AT PENDLETON—INSANITY REAL OR FEIGNED—POSITIVE PROOF AGAINST HIM.

[From the Pendleton Independent.]

A few days since, we, in company with Deputy Sheriff Taylor, visited the cell of this noted, or rather notorious Indian. Our readers will remember that this is the character charged by others with the murder of Coggan, and since his confinement each day has developed new features of proof, until now there is scarcely a shadow of doubt that it was his treacherous aim that directed the leaden messenger to summons him whom ill fate had destined to be slain. We were sensible of the great crime committed, and in view of its atrocity approached the cell with no feeling of sympathy for the villainous murderer. For several days past he has been pleading and acting insanity, refusing to eat, declaring that Indians are being hung in the adjoining cells, and protesting that the "evil spirit" visits him when alone in his confinement. After some difficulty Sheriff Taylor brought him from his cell and secured his chain to a tree in the court yard. For a time he remained in perfect silence, intently gazing eastward toward the hills where the blackened crime was perpetrated. The imagination of the looker-on could plainly read the thoughts that were occupying his mind and agitating his frame. He grew more and more excited until apparently lost to all save his own frantic thoughts, he gave way to wild, piercing shrieks, that strangely contrasted with his former silence. With amazement we beheld the Indian captive, who, in his hallucination, was again on the battle ground commanding the braves of other and (to him) better days. At times he raved, at others was quiet, and in the midst of wild and warlike strains of whooping, would suddenly fall to low, melancholy moans that died in weeping. Then, as if some new power had seized him and awakened new energy, he leaped in the air, surged at his chains, yelled unearthly, and settling again into quietude, would recoil to the tree, and with a stealthy, snake-like look, point a quivering finger toward the hills where once, happy in the pleasures of freedom, he "roamed the plains at will or sought the cooling stream."

MONDAY MORNING, OCT. 14, 1878.

A Stabbing Affray.—"Thursday night," says the Island Enterprise, "a stabbing affray was indulged in by two Chinese cooks on the corner of Main and Court streets. The particulars, as near as we can learn, are about as follows: It seems that both Chinamen were employed at the Walla Walla restaurant, and one of them owed the other some money. The one to whom the money was owing requested Mr. Smith, the proprietor of the restaurant, to retain the amount in his possession. The other not liking this proceeding, on meeting with his debtor, got into a dispute with him concerning it. As this fellow bears the reputation of having 'killed his man,' his opponent concluded to take 'time by the forelock,' out with a wicked looking knife and cut the other in the abdomen. The wound will no doubt prove fatal."

Preliminary Hearing.—This morning at 10 o'clock the preliminary hearing of the case of the United States vs Capt. Edward Richardson, master of the British bark Cynosure, charged with smuggling goods, will come off before commissioner Lamson. The examination was to have come off last Saturday, but was continued.

State Circuit Court.—At 9 o'clock this morning the state circuit court for Multnomah county, will convene. The term will be a very long one, as a great number of civil cases are on the docket, besides a good many criminal cases to try. All jurors are required to be in attendance at 9 o'clock sharp this morning.

At Tillamook.—A correspondent writing from Tillamook says: "The schooner Kate [illegible], arrived in Tillamook bay on Saturday, Oct. 5th, has finished unloading and will start for Portland on the 11th inst., weather permitting. She will have a full cargo out consisting of butter, cheese, salmon, and other articles."

A Handsome Display.—The display made by the Singer Sewing Machine Company at the State Fair is one of the most attractive on the ground and is the subject of much favorable comment. The company has put up at its own expense a pavilion. Nothing like showing enterprise.

Rev. Mr. Cruzan.—This gentleman certainly had cause to feel gratified last evening, his house of worship being filled to its utmost capacity. His subject, that of "Marriage," was presented in a very edifying and practical manner. Next Sunday evening the same subject will be concluded.

Look Sharp.—A fine opportunity is presented along First street for some one to get his or her hat caved in by the falling of some swinging sign, many of which are suspended only by a single hempen cord. We advise something more substantial be substituted.

Fined.—Walter Jones, the young steward of the British bark Cynosure, who was arrested a few days ago charged with smuggling, was tried in the U. S. district court last Saturday. He was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $50.

From Astoria.—A dispatch from Astoria yesterday announces the departure of the steamer [illegible] for San Francisco last Saturday. The British ship Shamir, from Sydney, arrived at Astoria Saturday.

U. S. Circuit Court.—Judge Deady will render an opinion in this court this morning on the exceptions to the answer in the case of [illegible] E. Coulson vs. Byron Z. Holmes et al.

Letters.—The following messages remain uncalled for at the telegraph office: J. M. [illegible], Christensen, L. Bettman, Mrs. [illegible]man, Mrs. Paul McCann, E. J.

JOHNSON CAPTURED.

ONE OF THE O'SHEA ROBBERS UNDER ARREST AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA.

A dispatch was received at the police headquarters Friday night from chief of police of the city of Los Angeles, Cal., asking if Johnson, implicated in the robbery of O'Shea's and the murder of Louis Joseph, was wanted. An answer was sent immediately authorizing his arrest, asking if they had Johnson, and calling attention to the marks on his body which would identify him. To this a reply came, that the marks were found, and that the prisoner confessed everything, and that he would be held until an officer could come for him. The necessary authority has been obtained, and by the first steamer which sails, an officer will start for Los Angeles to take charge of Johnson and bring him to Portland.

BETHEL SERVICES.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Yesterday, at the usual hour, these services were opened by singing,

The great Physician now is near,
The sympathizing Jesus.

In spite of the rain quite a large crowd assembled on the wharf, and a goodly number upon the main deck of the good ship Franklin Hall. Chaplain Stubbs being quite ill and unable to be out, the meeting was addressed by Mrs. Stubbs, and Mr. Rigby, of the M. E. church, who was providentially with us, ready with the "word in season." Mrs. Elam followed with an earnest pathetic exhortation, after which the venerable Father Lichtenthaler offered a fervent petition for all present, and the service was closed with the benediction by Mr. Rigby. Papers were distributed to the seafaring men, and thus ended another precious season on shipboard.

BRIEF NOTES.

Second week of the fair.

The steamer Elder has arrived.

Very discouraging fair weather.

State circuit court this morning.

Special train to Salem yesterday.

New dramatic season on the 23d inst.

The rains descend, but as yet the floods have not come.

Falling leaves make the sidewalks in a miserable condition.

Up to the hour of going to press the steamship Great Republic had not arrived.

The steamer Ohio passed down the river Saturday in a very dilapidated condition.

Mr. J. M. Ten Bosch, of this city, who has been quite ill for some time, is rapidly recovering.

Mr. N. K. West, of East Portland, is building a warehouse 50x100 feet, adjoining the Fourth street bridge in that city.

The steamer Ancon will sail from this port for San Francisco on Wednesday, October 16th, at 5 A. M. Reduced rates of passage.

The Portland Industrial Exhibit Association will hold their long promised exhibition on the 21st of this month, continuing six days.

The Alden Besse will leave this port for Hongkong some time this week with several hundred Chinese destined for the Flowery Kingdom.

It is generally reported that the O. S. S. Co. will run the steamship City of Chester on the northern route, in opposition to the steamship California.

Messrs. L. White & Brother intend erecting a large brick building next to Messrs. Bacon & Sherlock's new brick, corner of Second and Stark street.

It is reported that Mr. Cornwall, owner of the opposition line, has sent an agent to the Eastern States to secure another steamship to run on the Portland and San Francisco route.

Geo. LaRocque, the young man whose hoodlum propensities made him quite ridiculous in this city last winter, was recently fined $100 and costs in Oregon City, for an assault with a deadly weapon.

One of the curiosities which strike a stranger's vision is the large warehouse built by Messrs. Lewis & Flanders. It is about 900 feet long and two stories high. There are six vessels loading and discharging there now.

PERSONAL.

We acknowledge a call yesterday from Mr. J. W. Bennett, one of the publishers of the Coos Bay News.

Mr. J. C. Moreland, who has been very sick for some weeks past, was able to ride out on Saturday. He expects to appear at the court house to-day.

Hon. Thomas H. Brents who has been sojourning in this city for several days, will depart this morning for Washington territory and will commence the canvass at once.

Mr. L. P. McCarty, publisher of the Annual Statistician, is in the city. This book is published in San Francisco, and is beyond all question, the most complete repository of general and minute statistical and other information yet issued anywhere.

Mr. Steve Skidmore, of this city, who has spent the summer in Europe, sailed from England for home on the 3d inst., and is now in New York City. He will start at once for Portland, but as he expects to lay over at several points en route, will not arrive here much before the middle of next month.

Colonel George L. Gillespie, U. S. A., who is to relieve Colonel J. M. Wilson, will leave San Francisco for Portland on the steamer City of Chester next Tuesday. Colonel Wilson will leave here for Washington on the next trip of the Oregon—probably about the 26th inst.

Captain Coats of the U. S. Navy and Captain Elliott of the U. S. Coast Survey, who are now engaged upon the survey of Puget Sound, were in this city on the 11th; they returned to their duties on the 12th.

Well Worth Seeing.—The exhibit of optical goods made by Cooper & McKibbin, opticians of San Francisco, at the Fair pavilion, is one of the finest and most complete we have ever seen. Fine Pebble Spectacles and Eyeglasses in immense variety; Opera and Field Glasses, Telescopes; Magnifying and Reading glasses of every description. Their new "Excelsior" Barometer and storm glass is an instrument well worthy of attention, but the great attraction of their stand, and in fact the Fair, is the "Floroscope," a new invention, which magnifies 500 times. Everybody should have one; price, only one dollar. Mr. McKibbin was formerly a resident of Oregon, well and favorably known, and Mr. Cooper is an optician of 13 years' standing in San Francisco. We can recommend visitors to the Fair wanting anything in their line to call on them, and they will be dealt with courteously and honorably.

Abalone Shells.—About eighteen months ago Mr. R. W. Jackson introduced for the first time in Portland a great variety of Abalone Shells, which were made up in various forms. They attracted great attention and large lots were sold. Mr. J. returned recently and has just completed the arrangement of his stock of beautiful shells in the pavilion in the State Fair. The exhibit comprises many unique designs, including clocks, glove boxes, sets looking glasses, charms, etc. They are really brilliant. The shells come from the southern coast of California, and exist in large quantities. Mr. Jackson gives a personal explanation of the goods, their origin, etc.

When you want an excellent photograph, and do not care to pay extortionate prices, go to Frank G. Abell, who does work well and at a reasonable figure. His productions show that he is popular.

The ladies of Portland are invited to attend a course of lectures at Mrs. Dr. Burr's office, First street, between Morrison and Alder, at 3 o'clock to-day. Admission free. Electrical treatment free after the lecture.

Just received Mme. Demorest's reliable patterns for Fall. Send stamp for catalogue to Mrs. Chas. Tichnor, corner First and Yamhill Sts., Portland, Oregon. The Portfolios have not yet arrived. Country customers will please take notice.

FIRST INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

To day, one week, the first exhibition given in this city under the auspices of the Portland Industrial Exhibit Association, will open at the large brick building at present occupied by Messrs. Newbury, Chapman & Co. The association has been industriously engaged for some time in making every needful preparation for the forthcoming exhibition. There seems every reason to predict that it will prove a most gratifying success to the association, and that the display will fully come up to public expectation. The building which will be used is 50 feet wide and 200 feet long—extending from Front to First street along Madison. There is a gallery extending along on each side of the building for its entire length, 15 feet in width. The exhibition will occupy both the main floor and the galleries—making a ground room equal to about 80 feet by 200. Large as this area is, it is inadequate to meet the applications of exhibitors. There will be sufficient room for about seventy-five exhibitors, but the number of applications thus far made exceeds that. A much larger building could easily be filled to advantage. About Wednesday of this week the agricultural machinery will be moved out of the building, and workmen will commence at once to put up frames for exhibitors. Before the last of the present week everything will be in condition to receive the articles intended for display. It is intended by the association that the exhibition will be formally opened next Monday evening. The price of admission to the building will be only fifty cents. Each day during the week the exhibition will be open from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M., and from 7 P. M. to 10. A band of music will be in attendance during the evenings and enliven the occasion with choice music. This first exhibition is somewhat experimental. It is intended by the association as an opportunity for determining whether or not the public will take interest in and give encouragement to such efforts. Should the community aid and foster this very important and laudable move more extensive preparations will be made by the association for the exhibition next season. A larger and better appointed building will be obtained, and probably premiums offered.

PHIL SHERIDAN MINING COMPANY.

Like the Monumental, the Phil Sheridan is rapidly developing into an extensive mine under the work which has been done and is now in progress. A shaft is being sunk which will cut the ledge at a depth of 100 feet. So great is the confidence of the workmen engaged on it that they prefer to take the stock at the present low rates than money for their pay. Orders for large amounts of stock from the mine have been received at the office in the last few days. The prospects must certainly be encouraging when the miner shows such faith in the ultimate results as this.

SPIRITUALISM.

Circles for development every evening at Dr. Hyde's seance rooms, No. 141, First street.

Mrs. F. A. Logan, whose healing powers have been blessed with unparalleled success (during her tour as a lecturer through several states and territories in the Union for the past twelve years) has yielded to the solicitations of friends to open an office under the town clock, in Odd Fellows' building, for a season, for the benefit of the afflicted of whatever malady.

TESTIMONIAL.

I had what my physician called "low typhoid fever;" was suffering intensely when Mrs. Logan gave me treatment; in one hour's time placed me on my feet; sat up three hours, and the next day nearly made a calico dress, and since that time (two weeks) have washed sixteen dozen pieces besides doing my own housework. I could but cry for joy, as my little ones needed a mother's care.

I consider Mrs. Logan a healer of superior power and merit. MRS. JENNIE WADSWORTH,
(Husband) B. T. WADSWORTH (witness.)
SEATTLE, W. T., Aug. 8, 1878.

You can buy a sample bottle for ten cents. Three doses will relieve you.

DEATH OF E. A. CRONIN.

After a long and painful illness Eugene A. Cronin passed peacefully away from earth at his room in Holmes' brick building, on First street, yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Cronin's general health had been precarious for some time past. Constantly failing health induced him to visit the seaside about six weeks ago. Not receiving the benefit so much needed and so earnestly sought for, Mr. Cronin returned to this city. Soon after he became confined to his room. The best medical skill of the city was in attendance constantly, and kind friends waited about his bedside and by their gentle and thoughtful ministrations smoothed his path to the grave. The insidious disease baffled every effort made to check its advances, and slowly but inevitably worked out its fatal result. Untold sufferings were endured by the patient during the four weeks he was confined to his bed; but at length feeble and exhausted nature could hold out no longer against the disease, and the silver cord of life was loosened. Suffering and disease reduced him to a state of great emaciation.

Eugene A. Cronin was born in Salem, Washington county, New York, on the 9th of August, 1841. He was the youngest member of a family of six children. He emigrated to this coast in the year 1865, and arrived in this city during the month of April of the same year. He has no relatives on this coast. Mr. Cronin studied medicine for a term of two years in the Albany Medical College. That profession proving uncongenial to him, he abandoned it and engaged in the study of law in the office of his brother, Timothy C. Cronin, who is at present one of the most prominent and successful lawyers in the city of Brooklyn, New York.

Deceased had been engaged in the practice of his profession since his arrival in Portland. He was regarded as one of the brightest and shrewdest members of the legal profession in the state. He was an earnest, active advocate, and very true and zealous in the interest of his client. In all the professional and business relations of life Mr. Cronin was strictly honorable, and held in high esteem by the members of the profession. Deceased was a candidate for elector on the Democratic ticket at the last election, and acquired much celebrity by reason of his connection with that affair.

At the time of his death, Mr. Cronin was 37 years two months and four days old. He was a member of the Masonic order before he came to Portland—a member in honorable standing of Salem (New York) Lodge, No. 391—although he did not attach himself to any lodge in this state. The funeral will take place to-morrow (Tuesday) at 10 o'clock under the auspices of the Masonic order.

MONDAY MORNING, OCT. 14, 1878.

Vindication of John Waring.

We are in receipt of the following letter and certificate, which will require no explanation:

CLEARFIELD, CLEARFIELD Co., PA.,
September 13th, 1878.

Inclosed you will find a copy of certificate from the District Attorney, and others in my case, concerning my arrest in East Portland, on the 5th of last August, for the crime of being accessory to the murder of Mrs Waple, here in September 1878. As you published a statement at the time, which had an author either in the person of H. Hovner, who has signed this certificate, or some one else. This is an exact copy of the certificate in my possession, which I will be pleased to bring to your office when I arrive in Portland, which will be in a few days. I expect to start in a few days and would be much obliged if you would publish this, as it would be a great favor by reaching my many friends which it would not so well as in your paper.

Yours, &c.,
JOHN WARING.

CERTIFICATE.

This is to certify that John Waring was not arrested for the murder of Mrs. Waple, as was published in the Oregon papers, but as an accessory on account of his supposed knowledge of the crime and the real perpetration thereof and his concealment of the same by absenting himself as an important witness. The arrest was made upon information furnished which was believed at the time to be correct, but has since proven to be incorrect. Accordingly the charge has been withdrawn. We would further state that we have read the statements published in the Oregon papers concerning Mr. Waring's connection with this crime, and that they are garbled and incorrect. Mr. Waring never had any such connection with the crime as there alleged, nor was he ever so charged. The only charge against him was his supposed knowledge of the perpetrator of the crime, and his concealment of it, and that has proven to have been based on erroneous information, as above stated.

THOS H. MURRAY,

H. HOVNER, County Comm'r.

STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA,
County of Clearfield.

I, Eli Bloom, prothonitary of the court of common pleas of county and state aforesaid, do hereby certify that the above signatures are genuine and in their own hand writing.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the official seal of said court, this 26th September, 1878.

ELI BLOOM, Prothonitary.

REV. DR. CLARK writes:

I have much pleasure in saying Fellows' Hypophosphites improved my general health amazingly. It gives a clear skin and healthy countenance, but to know its virtues it must be used, and were it within the reach of all classes, I believe it would be used universally; yes, by the well, to renew their age, and by the sick, to make them well. It makes an old person ten years younger. "This witness" would that I could more widely make known its virtues.

CLEANDER CLARKE, D. D., Amherst, N. S.

I heartily recommend Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all troubled with any difficult diseases of the lungs or nervous system, and I know that had I not used it I would not now be living.

HARRIS COFFILL, Windsor, N. S.

Consulting Office for Consumptives, Tolmie Medical Institute, Cleveland, O.

Mr. J. I. Fellows—Dear Sir: We were induced to prescribe your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites by Dr. McMaster, and its use has been attended with such satisfactory results as to warrant our employing it largely from this time forward.

AFTER YEARS OF TESTS IN DIFFERENT climates, this preparation is acknowledged superior to any other in use. We apply it to tin or shingle roofs, leaky awnings and porches. It forms a heavy elastic coat, does not crack and peel off as ordinary paint. Stops all leakage permanently, is proof against moss, sparks, coals of fire, or water.

Parties interested may examine our work on Odd Fellows Temple, Alisky & Hegele's buildings, and others. Unquestioned references in this state.

BEAUTY: OR, THE Secret of a Fair Face.

An Item of Interest to Every Lady who Desires to be More Beautiful than she now is.

Unfortunately not one woman in a hundred, subjected to the whims of an American climate, possesses that basis and starting point of real beauty—a pure and clear complexion. What nature has thus denied, art must be called upon to furnish. It can be done; it is done daily. Prof. W. E. Hagan placed beauty within the reach of every unblessed daughter of Eve when he discovered that surprising article known in fashionable circles as the true secret of beauty, and called

MAGNOLIA BALM

The MAGNOLIA BALM is a sure device for creating a pure and blooming complexion. It conceals all natural blemishes in the most surprising and effective manner. It removes all roughness, eruptions, redness, blotches, freckles, and tan with magical power. It drives away all evidence of fatigue and excitement. It makes the plainest face beautiful. It gives the complexion a dazzling purity and makes the neck, face, and arms appear graceful, rotund and plump. It makes a matron of 35 or 40 look not more than 20 years old, and changes the rustic maiden into a cultivated city belle.

The Magnolia Balm removes all blemish and conceals every drawback to beauty; and, while it is as harmless as water, it is so life-like in its effects that the closest observer cannot detect its use. Ladies who want to make themselves attractive can make an absolute certainty of it by using HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM, and we know of no other way. It is the cheapest preparation in the world, all things considered, and may be had at any drug store.

MONDAY MORNING OCT 14 1878

FIVE WEEKS IN THE CASCADE MOUNTAINS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

On the 6th of August last Judge T M Pearson of Lewis county and myself packed our horses and set out from the little village of Claquato fully determined to prospect the Cascade mountains in the vicinity of Mount Adams the judge and myself taking it afoot The direction we took was east We intended to make our way up to the headwaters of the Cowlitz river After completing our outfit at Newaukum a station on the N P R R we reached the Klickitat prairie 30 miles distant on the second day about 2 o clock where we enjoyed the kindest hospitalities of our much esteemed friend Mr W P Hendricks one of the oldest settlers of Klickitat Owing to a loss we met with here we were necessarily compelled to remain a couple of days This little prairie is about three and a half miles long by one wide and all under a high state of cultivation, as there are two or three dozen well to do farmers all living near to each other A neat little school house situated in the center of the neighborhood adds grace to the locality

Here the judge came to the conclusion not to advance further on our way without an escort and a mediator in case we should before our return come in contact with some of Howard s lost Piutes. Consequently we procured the assistance of one of the natives of this region (whom for convenience we shall call Friday) at one dollar a day From here with Friday as captain we left civilization and journeyed on over an Indian trail some fifty miles, to the foot of the mountains where we made a halt Our journey from the Klickitat occupied three days nearly the whole distance along the Cowlitz river which winds its way through a vast wilderness of vine maple the bottom lands on either side of the river being in width from a half to a mile wide This body of land is as rich in soil as can be found on the Pacific coast, covered with vine maple and alder, with scarcely large timber enough for fencing It being well watered by small mountain streams, it has a natural drainage into the Cowlitz river In traveling through we made an estimate as near as we were able, of the amount of population this upper valley is capable of supporting and I can safely say that there are now awaiting settlement on the Cowlitz river east of the Klickitat prairie upwards of 30 000 acres of the very best bottom land and nearly all outside of the N P R R limits Now subdivide this, and we find that nearly 200 families could find farms of 160 acres each and the probable cost of clearing would not exceed five to six dollars per acre This is not all Within one half mile of the Klickitat there lies another body of land about five miles in length by one in width, already subdivided and as rich soil as the above mentioned tract Here forty families could find homes of 80 acres each The only difficulty that seems to be in the way is the crossing of the Cowlitz river at the Klickitat, as it is rather a rapid stream It has been a terror ever since the settlement of the prairie All travel is necessarily suspended during the rainy season, except the weekly mail, which must go ford or no ford This obstacle is however, soon to be overcome, as the Lewis county commissioners, authorized by an act of the last legislature, appropriated out of the county fund $1 300 which, with the subscription made by the people, is sufficient to build a good bridge Steps have already been taken to erect it this coming winter

As I have already mentioned, we made a halt at the upper end of the valley We found vegetation of all kinds growing spontaneously on an old Indian s farm Oats, timothy potatoes, carrots, etc I am informed by the Indians at this place, that the snow rarely falls deeper than 4 to 6 inches and remains on the ground but a short time. From this point we recrossed the river and undertook to make our way to the summit, up one of the tributaries of the Cowlitz which has its source near Mt. Adams However after several day s hard labor spent in cutting trails we were obliged to give up the undertaking, as no feed could be found for our horses The obstacles were too great for two of us, (as we had already sent our guide home), to overcome, as we were not able to carry provisions on our backs sufficient to do us during the time required to make the summit. We soon took in the situation and concluded to abandon the project in this direction, but return to the Klickitat and try to make the summit in the direction of St. Helens The judge having spent the last three summers in these mountains, is perfectly familiar with the different passes, and proposed railroad routes He is of opinion that through here a pass can be found fully 1 000 feet lower than any other By connecting with the headwaters of the stream Attanum, which empties its waters into the Yakima river near Yakima City, a grade can be got through here not to exceed probably fifty feet to the mile, and the distance from Newaukum or Chehalis station would not exceed 120 miles by this route, It would only leave a divide of about forty miles between the upper Cowlitz and the great Yakima basin.

After returning to the Klickitat which we reached on the 24th of August, we laid by a couple of days for repairs and to rest our horses On the 28th (Friday) we rejoined our party and took a course a little west of south from the Klickitat and for Mount Saint Helens The first five miles to Winston creek the trail was tolerably fair There being a good cattle range at this point, the people of Klickitat utilize it From there we were obliged to cut a way for our horses some fifteen miles to the Toutle river, where we left the horses, took our blankets and provisions on our backs and made the balance of our way through a very rough and timbered country. We found no bottom lands worth mentioning, but vast quantities of splendid cedar. We captured plenty of game—elk, deer and mountain sheep, as well as bear and wolves.

After five days' hard labor, we arrived at the base of St. Helens, the surroundings of which is a beautiful scene. Here we find the effects of a heretofore terrible convulsion of Nature. St Helens undoubtedly has been a volcano On the northern slope, perhaps three thousand feet from the summit, can be seen a large crater which has thrown out immense quantities of lava and stone, which lies piled up from fifty to seventy-five feet deep, from the base of the mountain extending nearly three miles northwest. This pile of rock, lava and slag will average one half a mile in width. On the eastern slope a smaller crater can be found, which has ejected only sand, stone and ashes. For a distance of two and a half to three miles all around the base everything in the timber line is swept clean except some mountain ash, and blue huckleberry.

As heretofore mentioned we were compelled to carry our provisions on our backs and ten days' rations being all we were able to take, we were forced to cut our visit short. On the 5th of September we started in at the northern base, and after patience, caution and a great deal of exertion, climbing over immense boulders, crossings fields of ice and snow, succeeded in ascending probably within two thousand feet of the summit Here we met with difficulties that we were unable to overcome. The ascent being so steep, the snow frozen so on the surface (and we not being properly prepared) we could not find footing. Even it was impossible to penetrate the snow with our staffs which we carried in either hand.

From this situation we took in the surroundings. Far below us in the distance is nothing but stone, lava and sand while north of us loomed up old Mt. Rainier, and farther around to the east Mt. Adams held her hoary head high above the Cascade range which as far as the eye can see north and south is but a mere confusion of ragged peaks About four miles northeast of the base of the mountain a beautiful little lake about five miles in length by one mile in width is peacefully nestled in the bosom of these mountains surrounded by evergreen This lake is at all times of the year full of fish The scenery was grand in the extreme and to give this picturesque view its finishing touch the waters of Toutle river (taking its source from this lake) rush madly on over rocky beds in and out of canyons with a fall of 125 to 150 feet to the mile and finally joins the lower Cowlitz nearly due west from its origin St Helens is bound to be at no distant day one of the leading summer resorts on the Pacific coast From here we turned our course homeward, which we reached on the 12th inst after spending five weeks time profitably The weather being fine it was a trip of pleasure and one long to be remembered

Connecticut Town Elections

The Times Hartford special says All but fifteen towns which held town elections on Monday have been heard from and the result is Republicans 7 Democrats 50 divided 26

The New York "Sun" on the Elections

NEW YORK Oct 10—The Sun's leader headed Beaten and Disgraced is as follows It is not beaten alone that the Democrats are on the whole, in the recent elections—they are disgraced also They had two positions, natural for them to take which were impregnable One was the observance of the constitutional provisions for the election of president and vice president the other was the sound doctrine of a gold basis for currency They abandoned both They surrendered all principle and withal were ignominiously beaten as they ought to have been We do not say the Republicans merited success but Democrats certainly deserved the defeat they have sustained How will it be in this state? Tammany Hall began, several months ago by declaring Hayes title sacred All who believe that fraud can be sanctioned by success and that an unconstitutional election can confer a sound title may follow Tammany s lead The Democratic state convention did little better Nothing was said in their resolutions about the unconstitutional electoral bill Independent patriots will best manifest their attachment to the constitution by voting against the Democratic party It will be bad for the party but it will be good for the country When any party deliberately abandons all principle, it should in turn be abandoned by the people The Democratic party, at the recent state convention silently turned its back to the constitution Let voters at the polls silently turn their backs upon the Democratic party Those who have timidly and basely lowered the flag should ask in vain for victory to perch upon it Unworthy of leadership, let them be overwhelmed

Butler's Little Game.

BOSTON Oct 9—The Herald states that the Democratic cipher dispatches were furnished the Tribune by Gen Butler in return for which favor the Tribune has refrained from its old practice of bitterly assailing Butler, and Butler is said to have in his possession the Republican cipher dispatches which passed in the same campaign, and which are to be thrown on the market at the proper moment for their discomfiture, but through an organ on the other side

Tall Wire Pulling.

NEW YORK, Oct 10—The Times Boston special says Butler s little game appears to be this A still hunt until within about ten days of the election then a rush and racket in the open field, with the hope of throwing his opponents into a panic While the Republicans are working with an old time vigor and under the admirable direction of the shrewdest of their leaders, the old man and his crowd are toiling as vigorously and systematically, and it is by no means safe to conclude that his grip is broken and that the promised Republican majority is an absolute certainty The closest observers still agree that there is every reason to believe that he has lost much strength and that his chances of success seem to be growing lighter daily, but at the same time they acknowledge that it is not easy to calculate the full extent of the mischief of his men moving about the state are doing, or to keep track of the tricks he is preparing to play The conviction that the contest is to be between classes is steadily strengthening Butler's men are working persistently upon the prejudices of the masses and especially of the ignorant and irresponsible classes
